

Colebrook Bosson Saunders Expands Oripura Laptop Stand Collection

New Colours Enhance Healthy Working

Colebrook Bosson Saunders (CBS) has introduced new colours to the Oripura Laptop Stand to expand the ergonomic range and influence mental and emotional wellbeing. Oripura is a portable, foldable laptop stand that allows users to create an ergonomic workstation anywhere. The collection is now available in white, mint green, and yellow.

“We know that work today is done in a number of places, and with that laptop use is on the rise,” said Andy Humphreys, Managing Director of CBS. “Our research showed the need for portable stands that allow ergonomic work positions no matter where people are working. Oripura’s latest colours further enhance the work experience by representing wellbeing and influencing how we communicate.”

Screen time is increasing as more people and organizations explore distributed ways of working. While laptop use is convenient, it is often uncomfortable, not ergonomically supported, and used over long periods of time. Oripura comes alongside users by offering an easy to use, portable design wherever they choose to work. The stand helps reduce eye strain and stress on the neck and back by elevating the laptop to an ergonomic height with no user adjustments required. Adding an independent keyboard and mouse, the Oripura is designed to deliver user comfort over sustained periods of time.

Oripura is portable, lightweight, and compact making it optimal for use in any environment. The design is also 100% recyclable and arrives in plastic-free packaging.
