

Knoll Introduces Exclusive Pride Petal End Table to be Donated in Support of LGBTQ+ Nonprofits

These limited-edition tables in a rainbow colorway, originally designed by Richard Schultz, will be donated to help nonprofit organizations raise funds to support the global LGBTQ+ community through auctions

This June, as we come together to celebrate the LGBTQ+ community, Knoll is honoring Pride Month by creating a special edition Pride Petal End Table designed by Richard Schultz. The limited-edition tables will be donated to nonprofit organizations to raise funds through auctions to support and progress LGBTQ+ rights in communities worldwide.

Selected in partnership with the company's corporate foundation and LGBTQ+ Equity Team, the global nonprofit partners will use the tables to raise funds for their organizations. Nonprofits include OutRight Action International, Hetrick-Martin Institute, Lambert House, New Avenues for Youth, London Friend, Casa Frida

Refugio LGBT+, and more.

“At Knoll, we believe in the power of inclusivity and creating environments where everyone belongs,” said Alana Stevens, President of Knoll. “This is a unique opportunity for Knoll to directly support and partner with many organizations making a difference in the global LGBTQ+ community so everyone can feel safe, accepted, and valued.”

The Petal End Table, introduced in 1960, has been an enduring classic of the Knoll collection. This special edition table is valued at $1,500 and is made in a rainbow color orientation. These Pride Petal End Tables are not available to purchase.
